Message

I am glad to learn that in order to train the blind people on identifying the banknotes easily, the International Institute of Currency Technology (IICT) is going to organize a seminar on the 'International Awareness Program on Global Banknotes for the Blind'. We understand that the peril of fake note circulation can only be reduced if people are well aware of the security features of the currency. It is our responsibility to provide banking services to the visually impaired and at BRAC Bank, we provide extra care for the visually and physically challenged customers. I strongly believe the IICT's initiative will herald a new beginning towards ensuring caring banking services for the blind. I wish the program success .
