It is indeed my immense pleasure to know that the International Institute of Currency Technology (IICT) is going to organize a seminar on the “1st Global Awareness Program on Banknote for the Blind”. Though Blind People cannot see yet they have a strong sense. And it is really a commendable step taken by the IICT towards educating the blind people on such a sensitive subject. It will protect them from falling into victims of frauds and forgeries in currency notes. I hope more initiatives will be taken by the Government and Non-Government agencies. Fake note circulation can only be reduced if all people are aware of the general features in our currency notes. Hope this seminar will help the blind people make their currency dealing more secure and safe.

I wish complete success of such a noble initiative.
